

A Stolen Car

- (1) An old woman's car was stolen right in front of her own house this Friday afternoon.
- (2) Actually, her 7 year old grandson and his friend had stolen it.
- (3) The boy drove his grandmother's car on the main street right into ongoing traffic.
- (4) As he was barely tall enough to see over the dashboard, many drivers had notified the police.
- (5) He swerved in and out of traffic, laughing at his reckless driving, blasting loud music.
- (6) Finally he pulled into Mc Donald's parking lot.
- (7) While trying to park he had hit 4 cars.
- (8) The boys tried to exit the car but were surrounded by police officers.
- (9) They told the police that they were hungry but didn't want to eat his grandmother's cooking.
- (10) They wanted to eat hamburgers and fries at Mc Donald's.
- (11) The grandmother was upset with her grandson and had to pay full damages to the cars he had hit.

語注

- (3) ongoing ずっと続いている traffic 行き来する車
- (4) barely 辛うじて notify 通知する
- (5) swerve 急に向きを変える reckless 向こう見ずな blast 大きな音で鳴らす
- (6) pull into 車が～に入る
- (8) exit ～から出る surround 取り囲む
- (11) upset 腹を立てて