

An Historical Suit

- (1) Elderly inhabitants reminisce about the scores of performers the deep rooted jazz bar in their condominium building has had.
- (2) They have incessantly fought with the city to sanction this place as a historical building.
- (3) Some of the most illustrious musicians in jazz history have played at this distinguished place.
- (4) However, plans to demolish the old residential building as part of a multimillion-dollar urban renewal project has encountered continuous delays during the past two years.
- (5) The residents are unwilling to give up their homes which are filled with priceless memories.
- (6) They have succeeded in another tussle in their endless legal battle to avert eviction.
- (7) A municipal judge Wednesday has issued a provisional restraining order stopping the city's latest moves to evict them, in order to examine further arguments from both sides.

語注

- (1) reminisce 思い出を語る scores of 多数の～
- (2) incessantly 絶え間なく sanction 認定する
- (3) illustrious 傑出した、有名な
- (4) demolish 解体する
- (6) tussle 格闘 avert 防ぐ eviction < evict 立ち退かせる
- (7) restraining order 差し止め命令